Profile of the study programme

The University of Fribourg is the only university in Switzerland to offer the possibility of studying Comparative Literature in two languages. The bilingual programme of studies in German and French deals with the interactions of different literatures in an international context.

In General Literature, students acquire the academic instruments to analyse literary texts and address fundamental questions on literature.

Comparative Literature is concerned with comparing works and authors from different linguistic and cultural areas. In Intermedial Comparative Literature, students explore the interactions between literature and other media.

Practice-oriented courses (e.g. on translations or work with manuscripts), interdisciplinary meetings and cultural events from other areas round off the range of courses offered.

The core curriculum consists of courses offered by the Fribourg Institute for General and Comparative Literature (Institut de littérature générale et comparée/Institut für Allgemeine und Vergleichende Literaturwissenschaft). These are complemented by lectures and seminars from other areas of literature and additional cultural events from other disciplines. Individual student care and support is not just an empty cliché with us in Fribourg: CL prides itself on close, personal scholarly exchange between students and teaching staff.

The CL programme opens up a wide array of career prospects in cultural, political and administrative areas, e.g. in publishing companies, theatres, foundations, archives and media, cultural management and the education system, public relations for various institutions (e.g. universities, enterprises and parties), federal and cantonal authorities, international organisations and NGOs, the diplomatic service, and development cooperation.

Admission

Master's degree programmes are built on the knowledge and abilities that were acquired when obtaining a bachelor's degree.

Holders of a bachelor's degree awarded by a Swiss university are admitted to a master's degree programme without any preconditions if they have earned 60 or 90 ECTS credits – depending on the chosen master's degree programme – within the corresponding discipline. However, additional requirements can be required. The same applies to holders of a bachelor's degree awarded by a foreign university, provided that the bachelor's degree is recognised and considered equivalent by the University of Fribourg.

Holders of a bachelor's degree awarded by a Swiss or a foreign university, provided that the bachelor's degree is recognised and considered equivalent by the University of Fribourg, who do not fulfil this condition can be admitted to a master's degree programme with preconditions (which must be successfully completed before starting the master's degree programme) and/or additional requirements (which can be completed during the master's degree programme). The preconditions and/or additional requirements may not exceed 60 ECTS credits in total. The same applies to holders of a bachelor's degree awarded by a Swiss university of applied sciences, according to existing agreements.

The respective conditions of admission for each master's degree programme are reserved.

Particular conditions of admission for CL:

- Major (90 ECTS): admission without prerequisites for any graduate with a bachelor degree in a literary subject. Graduates with a degree in a non-literary subject can be admitted provided they follow an adjustment programme.
- Minor (30 ECTS): admission without prerequisites for any graduate with a bachelor degree from the Faculty of Humanities.

Alternatives

Also offered as a minor study programme (30 ECTS credits).
